Board stops taping

By Bill Milligan

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Audio tapes of District 9 executive sessions may become a thing of the past. The school board has voted to discontinue the practice of taping executive sessions at the June 24 meeting.

The issue was raised by district attorney who expressed concern about taping discussions of coming labor negotiations.

"I've had concerns over the taping," said William Schooley III. "Very often, when the tape is transcribed, extraneous comments can be taken out of context. These tapes could be weaving our own web."

The district has taped executive sessions since April.

"We've tried it (taping), maybe it's not the best idea," said board President Dewey Melton. "There is a potential there to harm someone."

Attorneys for the district advised that tapes of previous executive sessions be held for an unspecified time before possibly being destroyed.

Member Jolene Terrell said the board should tape open sessions instead of closed sessions.

The measure was seconded by Kelly Hogan, who said it would be easier to tape open sessions. He made the suggestion to tape meetings after the Press-Record/Journal reported in April that he attributed discipline problems at Granite School to teachers who set too many students to the office.

This week, the board met twice for a total of approximately 1½ hours in open session and 7½ hours in executive session.

"It will take less tape," Terrell said.

Date set in Hoffman murder case

EDWARDSVILLE — A tentative date of July 21 has been set for the start of the murder trial of Jack Gordon Bruce.

Bruce, 42, pleaded innocent at a May 19 arraignment to four counts of murder and one count of home invasion, armed violence and attempted murder.

He was charged in the April 30 bombing of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl (Susan) Hoffman and the attempted murder of Mrs. Hoffman's daughter, Jennifer Seago.

BRUCE REMAINS in the Madison County jail without bond. He is recovering well from a gunshot wound to the abdomen, said Maj.

Lady Liberty's centennial observed

The 1986 Freedom Festival will bring a little of New York City to St. Louis for the V.P. Fair, July 4 through 6.

A 40-foot replica of the Statue of Liberty will be displayed in the north triangle of the Gateway Arch grounds as part of the Freedom Festival. The statue is constructed of aluminum, foam and fiberglass and lights from her torch will light that section of the riverfront at night.

The statue has been built by Jack Fields, jail superintendent.

Bruce said that on May 3, a man came to his home at 728 Old Alton Road and shot him. However, police claim Bruce shot himself.

Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Randy Massey said (for Bruce's) arraignment that the case would be placed on the June docket.

A deputy clerk in the criminal court division at the Madison County Courthouse said Tuesday Bruce's case was placed on the Juvenile docket because the arraignment was too late for the June docket.

RUMORS THAT Bruce's attorney, James Gomric of Belleville, requested the trial date to be changed were false, she said.

Assistant State's Attorney Robert Trone has been assigned to represent the state in the trial.

The death penalty will be sought against Bruce, Massey said.

Bruce was charged May 8 with the murders of the Hoffmans. The bodies were discovered in their home at 1547 Rodger Ave. They had been stabbed repeatedly and shot.

Jennifer, a child, was found in the house unharmed. Bruce allegedly turned on the kitchen stove's gas burners and placed a lit candle near them, but no explosion occurred.

City equipment, operator loaned to businessman for private use

By Jack C. Ventimiglia

Executive editor

MADISON — A city bulldozer and operator were used to level a private lot in the 1000 block of Reynolds Street on Wednesday.

Madison employee Charlie Voloski used the bulldozer to level the lot for John Hamm of Hamm Landscaping and Pools.

WHILE AT the lot, Voloski said, "Before I answer any more questions, give me your supervisor."

Voloski's supervisor, Street Superintendent Robbie Robbins, said Voloski should not have done any work.

"I will speak to him about that," Robbins said, but did not comment on the prospect for a reprimand.

COULD THE arrangement be a model for other equipment loans? Robbins said Madison taxpayers are getting the best side of an eight-year-old arrangement between the city and Hamm.

The exchange agreement allows the city free use of Hamm's equipment. In return, Hamm uses city equipment.

"We used a lot more of Hamm's equipment," Robbins said.

AS EXAMPLES, Robbins said the city has used Hamm's equipment to patch city streets, to break up streets to clear snow from streets in 1982, to paint buildings and to stripe streets. In exchange, Hamm sometimes borrows small pieces of equipment.

THIS IS the first time he's borrowed a piece of mechanical equipment, Robbins said of the bulldozer.

The arrangement with Hamm dates back to former Mayor Mike Sasyk's term, Hamm said, and he blamed a former member of Sasyk's administration for arranging the Press-Record to the work done on Reynolds Street.

"I THINK this is coming from the people who just got out of office," Hamm said.

The equipment Hamm loans to the city, if rented, would have cost taxpayers "thousands of dollars" over the years, Hamm said. If the arrangement ends, taxpayers will be penalized, he said.

"I don't charge the city nothing on that (equipment)," Hamm said.

THE ISSUE is political, Mayor John Bellcoff said. An effort is being made to make him look bad in front of the voters, he said.

"They're after me," Bellcoff said.

Members of Sasyk's administration had no problems with the arrangement made with Hamm, Bellcoff said, but now they're trying to make it seem like something is wrong.

"THIS THING today is nothing but a vendetta and I think it's going to backfire on them," Bellcoff said. "I'm going to bring it up at the City Council Tuesday."

At the meeting, Bellcoff said, he will explain why Hamm has been helping the community by receiving the short end of the equipment exchange agreement.

Whitaker gets chairmanship

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A committee chairmanship has been given to 6th Ward Alderman Judy Whitaker.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse appointed Whitaker chairman of a newly-formed tree committee Tuesday night.

He also appointed 4th Ward Alderman Sharon Perjak and 5th Ward Alderman Jake Varadian for one year to the committee.

"JUDY'S WELL qualified to chair the committee," Cruse said. "She knows a lot about this committee and she can put that knowledge to work."

At last week's City Council meeting, Cruse appointed every alderman but Whitaker to one of the chairmanships of at least one of the council's standing committees.

"I was surprised," Whitaker said about her appointment. "I'm

State to stress home insulation

Gov. James R. Thompson recommended Tuesday that the bulk of a $96 million Exxon oil overcharge refund be used for "winter weatherizing." 37,000 homes of low-income families throughout the state and to pay for implementation of the Affordable Energy Plan.

"Over the next four years we will work closely with the utility companies and the Illinois Commerce Commission to put into effect energy conservation measures. These conservation improvements will have the greatest impact on people who live in low-income homes and the hardest time paying their utility bills," the governor said.

"In addition, when I approved the Affordable Energy Plan program for Illinois last fall, I said I would try to make an expected oil overcharge court award available to help pay for the cost of the new law. What I am proposing addresses both the short- and long-range costs of that legislation."

"Under this plan, we are working to remove the restrictions placed by court order on the ways in which the overcharge money may be spent and also satisfying our commitment to the citizens," Thompson said.

The plan must be approved by the federal government before becoming effective.

It includes direct payments of $40 million to utilities to reduce losses incurred from the 12-percent-of-income cap placed on low-income customers' bills, and $75 million in energy conservation and weatherization measures to reduce utility bills in low-income households.

Because the court award is in an interest-bearing account in the state treasury, the total amount available over the four-year period will be $115 million.

The Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) will work with utility companies to identify and weatherize 37,000 low-income households in the state.

Over 40 percent of the population eligible to participate in the program is made up of senior citizens, disabled citizens or others living on fixed incomes.

"The weatherization effort will use $75 million of the Exxon money over a four-year period," Thompson said. "That is a long way to relieving one of the great burdens low-income and fixed-income people have in their daily lives."

"I will work with the legislature to prepare the necessary appropriations bill and legislative authority to put this plan in place."

"I have asked the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, Department of Energy and Natural Resources and Illinois Commerce Commission to work with the utility companies, community organizations and citizens to complete the plans and meet all the federal requirements," he said.

DCCA will contract with community agencies to carry out the weatherization services.

"Over the next four years, as many as 1,000 jobs will be generated by the construction and manufacturing activity," DCCA Director Jay Hedges said. "So in addition to the direct benefits low-income households receive, the program also will provide employment opportunities throughout the state."

Q. I cannot balance my checkbook. What should I look for if I don't balance, other than the nearest brick wall to bang my head against?

A. If the figure in your checkbook isn't the same as that on your bank statement, at least three things are possible: (1) A check or checks haven't cleared; (2) A deposit hasn't, as yet, been credited or (3) you or the bank has made an error. Reconcile by matching your returned checks against your checkbook ledger. List any not returned. Add unreturned checks to your checkbook balance, and subtract any service charges from it. Now check any deposits on the statement against those in your record and subtract those not shown on the statement. If your efforts fail, call your bank.

'12 rule' to help poor cope with utility costs

The very poor should know their energy rights, including an important new rule that allows them to pay a maximum of 12 percent of their income for energy, it was advised at a seminar Friday.

"The 12 percent rule will be lifesavers for the indigent who cannot afford to pay heating bills," according to Robin Talbert, attorney for Land of Lincoln Legal Assistance, which sponsored the seminar.

"Some time the heating bill is more than a person's total income, and they never get caught up, even with a deferred payment plan," Talbert said.

"They effects of this are going to be wonderful," she added. "Since said new 12 percent rule is new this year, many utility customers are not aware of it. However, they must apply to be eligible."

"They must also apply for heating assistance under the Illinois Weather Assistance Plan (IHEAP) and the Illinois Weatherization Assistance Plan. All three programs are administered locally by the Madison County Community Development (CD) Department."

"People who require energy assistance during the summer may receive it this year for the first time in three years, according to Cheryl Joubert, Madison County CD director, who attended Friday's session."

Talbert said the new cooling assistance plan is aimed at those who have a medical reason to avoid high temperatures. That program is also administered by the CD office.

The 12 percent rule was put in place by a state law enacted last year.

If the indigent person makes the payments required under the plan, his heat cannot be shut off, no matter how high the bill. All customers of regulated utilities such as Union Electric and Illinois Power, who are eligible for IHEAP, can participate in the 12 percent plan. These are generally very low-income families.

During the winter months, these eligible people pay 8 percent of monthly household income to the utility supplying heat, usually gas, and 3 percent to the utility supplying secondary service, usually electricity.

During the summer months they pay the same 8 percent and 4 percent to the utility supplying monthly gas and electric bills, whichever is greater. The current summer bill is usually the greater, said Talbert.

For example, if the family's monthly household income is $225, it pays only $26 to the gas company and $13.40 to the electric company.

"If you make these payments, your gas and electricity cannot be shut off," said Talbert.

Any IHEAP money received will go to pay for energy, in addition to the 12 percent, and cannot be counted as part of the 12 percent, Talbert said.

Alan T. Stenz, another attorney with Land of Lincoln, also told those who gathered in the Alton Square Community Room Friday that they should be aware of their rights.

"Rights become meaningless if you don't know what they are," Stenz said.

He said most consumer rights are set out by the Illinois Commerce Commission. They apply to all regulated utilities, but not to some rural electric co-ops.

Stenz said utilities do have the right to cut off service for various reasons, such as non-payment of bills or tampering.

"The most important thing to remember is to do something before service is disconnected. Once you are disconnected, your options are rather limited," said Stenz.

He said utilities are required to send a five-day notice to consumers before their service can be cut, but the time to take action is when the notice is received.

George Noh, representative of Union Electric, said the Illinois Commerce Commission has ruled that if the company has a record that a cutoff notice has been sent, it is presumed to have been received by the customer.

Stenz agreed, but added that the receipt of mail is a "rebuttable presumption," which can be legally challenged if evidence is available to counter that assumption. Stenz also pointed out that the man who comes to the home to cut off gas, electricity or water is in no position to negotiate with respect to the cutoff.

"If you are disconnected, you must pay in full before the service is reconnected," said Stenz.

Stenz said the most common way of handling a delinquent account is a deferred payment agreement.

For example, a consumer may pay 25 percent of the past-due amount and agree to pay the remainder in equal monthly installments.

The entire current bill must be paid under a deferred payment agreement, Stenz said.

He said there is also an additional provision for medical emergencies in which a consumer can receive a 30-day grace period plus an additional 30-day extension in medical emergencies.

Such medical conditions must be certified by a doctor or public health service, Stenz said.

Another option the customer has is to change the due date of his utility bill.

Often the receipt of a public assistance or Social Security check is out of sequence with the receipt of a utility bill. The change of date can allow extra time to make the payment, said Stenz.

"It is my hope that this challenge grant will encourage the medical planning community to step up its fundraising efforts," Madigan said. He called for state funds to be disbursed on a dollar-for-dollar basis to match private contributions.

The speaker said he backs legislation creating a council to study Agent Orange and to collect medical and psychological data on the impact of Agent Orange poisoning; assist in counseling efforts; and serve as a liaison to the Agent Orange Class Assistance Foundation.

This measure would allow Illinois to join New Jersey as the only states in the nation to develop an official network to work on the $150 million Agent Orange settlement payment program and the $45 million foundation.

He also wants to set aside a special day each year honoring Vietnam veterans. The speaker noted the bill does not call for school, government or bank closings.

The School Board's Balloon

The public deserves an answer

An answer is deserved by the public — the scores of persons who have supported District 9 Superintendent Max Redmond.

They want to know what the continued relationship between Redmond and the School Board, if any, will be. Since board President Dewey Melton asked for Redmond's resignation on May 31, no one knows if the board is going to keep or fire the superintendent.

Several meetings have been held since Melton's request. Some of those have been the board's lengthy closed-door sessions, and one was a public meeting attended by more than 200 persons who were concerned about the district's problems.

The board has had adequate time to determine what it will do concerning Redmond. It has had plenty of input — from citizens who seem ignored, from the hometown newspaper that gets called unfair, and from a private committee of distinguished community leaders.

Concerning the input given to the board, to date the net effect is no effect, except to ban the press from executive sessions.

And there was a general statement about cooperation, but it means little. The issue is still one of whether or not the superintendent will be allowed to make open recommendations.

Maybe the board's waiting for the matter to quiet down before it makes a decision, but a waiting game is likely to produce more controversy.

The public deserves an answer and the board should provide the answer the public wants to hear.

Eh? What was that they said?

A good sign of community involvement is the number of persons attending city council meetings.

Always seem to be a half dozen or so interested citizens at the council meeting in Granite City. Those who attend see their representatives in action and are in the best position to make informed votes at election time. They know what the votes are on the issues, they're present for debate and they learn which aldermen act as oil or rocks in the wheels of progress.

In return for this interest from the public, aldermen might consider a minor inconvenience to them that would be a big help in increasing public understanding at the council meetings.

Each alderman, when speaking, might consider lifting the provided microphones and using them.

The press sits three paces from the aldermen, but they are difficult to hear even at that close range. The public sits farther back and sometimes hears very little.

On Tuesday night, one person said what others have thought — she resorted to calling out to aldermen to use the microphones.

Aldermen are easy to hear at election time. They should be easy to hear afterward, too.

Not 'traditional,' but good move

A recent editorial stated it was a "tradition" for past mayors in Granite City to try to find a committee chairmanship for each alderman.

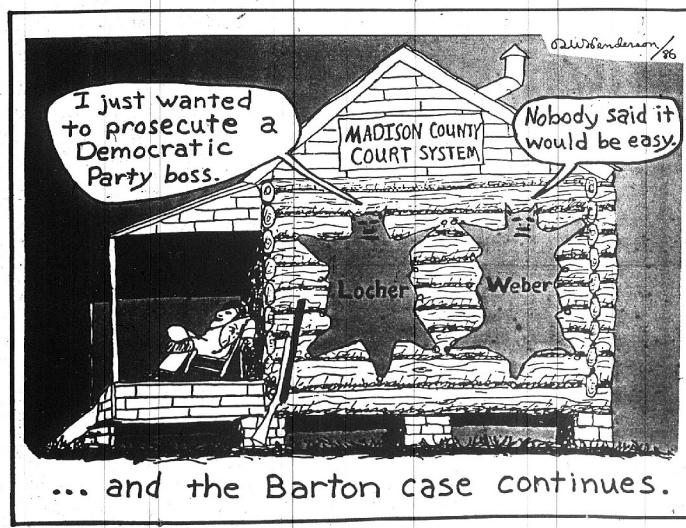

Second Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer, the council's senior alderman, correctly challenged the editorial on that ground, naming past mayors who had not appointed aldermen to chairmanships. For that, we thank Sam.

We maintain the basic premise of the editorial, however. The mayor, every mayor, should try to give each alderman a committee chairmanship because each alderman represents a significant portion of the public. The mayor, in his wisdom, apparently agreed. Though he couldn't right away take away the chairmanship from one of the aldermen, he formed a new committee and gave the chairmanship to the "snubbed" alderwoman, Judy Whitaker.

Whitaker could have thrown it back in the mayor's face and refused, but she did not. She accepted the chairmanship; met the mayor half way.

We hope this small step taken by the mayor and the alderwoman in the direction of improved relations will continue.

Readers react

Ray Koziielek,
Granite City

"I really haven't studied it, but I don't think it's the answer to economic growth. The answer to our future growth would be more industry, but I don't know how this can be achieved."

Merging for the future?

Do you think the merging of the local municipalities is the answer to the area's future economic growth?

A. H. Seibold,
Granite City

"We ain't going to draw industry around here cause of all the unions. They're running industry out. I think they waited too long to annex. They need the money, so they should get all they can."

Al St. John,
Pontoon Beach

"Not right now. Industry's not coming in here. Granite City Steel is doing too much now as it is. If there was a merger, taxes might go up a little for us residents of Pontoon Beach."

Omission in city's tax comparison

To the editor:

A warning to residents of the Gorbe, Wilshire Manor and Town and Country Subdivisions:

If you have read the June 19 article about Granite City's annexation program, you probably think it's a wonder idea to go into the city because your tax rate would only go up 1 percent and you would receive in return all of the city services for a penny. Like a one-cent sale!

Alan Orbals should have stated all the facts, but he did not. Here they are:

Granite City's 1985 tax rate was $7.33 per $100 assessed valuation; Nameoki Township's 1985 tax rate was $7.31, or 2 cents less.

But, and here is the big but, if you are in the wonderful Special Service Area One you know about the golden sewers you pay $14.80 a month, or $176.80 annually. In City, you still stay in Area One, which means that for 1985 if you were in the City of Granite City and the Special Service Area, your 1985 tax rate would have been $8.40 per $100, or $1.07 more than paid by a city resident who is not in the special service area.

You cannot get out of Special Area One. So, instead of a one-cent sale, it will really cost you $1.09 more on your tax rate.

In my case, my 1985 tax bill would have been $148 more instead of $3 more, the way Mr. Orbals wants everyone to believe.

Also, city residents pay $18 every three months for sewer service of $6 per month. We pay $14.80 every month and if you pay into the city you will still pay $14.80 per month.

This annexation program is a tax grab for the city of Granite City. When we asked to go into the city before this wonderful sewer system was installed, Granite City said no.

So, beware of their wonderful incentive; it will only cost you.

Articles on nurses have strong impact

To the editor:

I am currently vice president of the Illinois State Nurses Association. I wanted to let you know what an impact the articles that some of our members have written for the Press-Record/Journal has been.

Several acquaintances who are not nurses have commented on the content of several of the articles, particularly the wide range of job opportunities available to nurses.

Comments have also been made about how nursing has changed, and they were not even aware of the changes, especially the entire interpretive issue.

Many of the students I teach come from the Metro-East area and read the Press-Record/Journal. Even though they are nurses, they were unaware of some of the legislative changes.

I have also heard comments from some of my friends in the Chicago area. They do not read the Granite City newspaper but they were aware of the articles because they are sent to the state office.

Many of our members are just now getting motivated to write about current happenings in their field. Please, I sincerely hope that the articles continue so that consumers and nurses alike are kept informed.

Women in key state government jobs

To the editor:

Women in the United States are finally getting their chance to be in positions of influence both in business and government, and the country is better as a result.

Fifty-seven women are running for statewide offices across the nation. In the Nebraska governor's race, the candidates of both parties are women, and a woman is the Republican gubernatorial candidate in Oregon.

For too long, too many doors were closed for women. That meant more lost opportunities for them. It also meant lost resources and talent for business, the professions and government.

If a young woman has the desire and talent to be a lawyer, a doctor, an engineer, an executive or a senator, there is no good reason why she should be held back.

Also, the number two attorney in the 50-attorney Springfield of fice is a woman, Donna Dagnall, chief counsel. She has personally prosecuted major murder trials and led the attorney general's investigation in numerous environmental cases and sensitive county jail litigation.

Half of my 18 divisions are headed by women, including such key divisions as senior and disabled persons advocacy, consumer protection, crime victims compensation, public aid and charitable trusts.

In addition, seven of my 19 regional offices are headed by female attorneys, including offices in large cities like Peoria, Champaign, East St. Louis and Rock Island.

Anything that divides us or discriminates against any one of us is blind and stupid and belongs to the past.

Senior event a success, thanks given

To the editor:

The second annual "Senior Celebration" held at the Venice Senior Citizens Community Center on Friday, June 20, was very successful, thanks to several volunteers and sponsors.

Those active included Pam (Ship) Wilson, Lois Ann Wilson, Joann (Perry) Peacock, Charles Kline of Adams Market and the City of Venice, the City of Madison and the Venice Park District.

The seniors had a great time.

and there were gift certificates, prizes and awards given away. The fruit and salad trays, catered by Ramon Anderson of Madison, also were beautiful.

Dismissal blamed on politics in city's belt-tightening move

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

MADISON — "I just found out not 20 minutes ago that I was being canned," Elaine Parrow, 47, said Wednesday.

The last day of her minimum-wage job for the street department is Friday. She blamed her release on politics.

HER AFFILIATION with the "New Life" political party in Madison is the reason she was laid off, she said. Her party's nominee for mayor lost.

A different story is told by Mayor John Bellcoff, who praised Parrow's work.

Parrow is a victim of tough budget choices Bellcoff said.

"WE'RE LOOKING at different places to tighten our belts a little bit," he said. "If we have to cut, we're going to cut."

If money is available at another time, Parrow could be rehired, he said.

"She has been effective there," he said of Parrow.

In her job, Parrow said, involved community relations. When a person called with a complaint or request for street department help, she would begin the process of meeting the need.

"They use us until they have used us up," Parrow said.

Other cuts are expected, but Bellcoff was not exact.

"IT'S NOT going to be much," he said.

There's the possibility that I may go back to several other departments and completely cut them out," he said.

Bridge insurance rates increase

By Valerie Eveden
Staff writer

VENICE — "We're in the same situation as everyone else from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon, when it comes to insurance," McKinley Bridge Manager Tom Fields said Wednesday.

Included will be the 2600 block of Missouri Avenue, 2400, 2500 and 2600 blocks of North Street, the 2600 block of Logan Avenue and the 2700 block of Swan Drive.

County to extend Poag

The Madison County Board on June 18 appropriated $2 million in motor fuel tax funds for extension of New Poag Road (County Highway 69) from Illinois 111 to Illinois 3.

Bids are expected to be taken later this year for the project. When completed, New Poag Road will extend from St. Louis Street in Edwardsville to 111, providing a direct link between the Alton and Edwardsville areas.

The first phase of the project, which involved construction between Edwardsville and Bluff Road, was completed in the late 1960s. The highway was extended from Bluff Road to 111 in 1977.

The total cost of the extension is estimated at $4 million to $5 million. David Dietzel, county highway superintendent, told board members about $700,000 in state funds and about $1.75 million in federal funds are available.

The extension will involve about 1.4 miles of 24-foot-wide concrete pavement and an overpass over both the ConRail and Illinois Central Gulf railroad tracks. Traffic signals will be installed at 111 and 3.

A special projects fund of $300,000, added to last year's budget for the first time with approval of the bonding company, $1,119,637.

Largest increase in the individual budget line items is for insurance coverage, which shows increases of $15,000, or a yearly total of $190,000.

MONTLY RATES for liability and property damage insurance in the previous budget amounted to $6,000 per month or $72,000 a year.

"We talked with different agents and different agencies, but the same all across the country," Fields said, speaking of spiraling insurance rates.

A special projects fund of $300,000, added to last year's budget for the first time with approval of the bonding company, $1,119,637.

remains in the new document at the same level.

"LAST YEAR, we added $300,000 for work we needed to do this year and the new one (budget) includes $300,000 for projects scheduled next year," Fields explained.

One eastbound lane on the McKinley Bridge was closed for repair this morning and is expected to remain barricaded until Thursday. 3, the bridge manager said.

During the rush-hour traffic period from 4 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, eastbound traffic coming from St. Louis will use the lone lane under the superstructure, usually a two-way section.

WESTBOUND TRAFFIC will be restricted to one lane to facilitate the traffic flow during the two-hour period. Flashers, arrows and directional signs were erected today.

The toll bridge's preliminary operation and maintenance budget runs from October 1986 through September 1987.

Projected expenses in the various segments, with last year's figures in parentheses, are:

Operating — $283,263 ($280,225), up $8,148; maintenance — $383,000 ($380,530), up $2,490; painting reserve — $60,000 ($57,600), up $2,400; and general and administrative expenses — $519,264 ($401,392), up $117,872.

Pontoon Lioness Club to install new officers

Linda Leleniewski was elected president of the Pontoon Beach Lioness Club for the 1986-87 year and will be installed at the club's annual installation dinner on Saturday, June 28, at the Lions Den, 3901 Lake Drive.

Also elected for 1986-87 are: Sylvia Theis, vice president; Kelley Papp, recording secretary; Peppi Goss, corresponding secretary; Barbara Murphy, treasurer; Lynn Cavar, lioness tamer; Judy Davis, lioness tail twister; and Mary Church, Henrietta Graham and Charlotte Minks, directors.

Deputy District Gov. Eugene Jordan will install the elected officers and Lion Zone Chairman Frank Cramer will install new members.

Linda Leleniewski joined the club in October 1980 under the leadership of her co-chair Cindy Neiper. She has served the club in the offices of vice president and secretary. She also chaired the following committees: caramel corn, constitution and bylaws, Easter egg hunt, and installation. She has had perfect attendance each year since joining the club.

State helps crime victims get 'justice,' assistance

Illinois Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan emphasized the importance of a victims justice system and explained his office's programs to provide crime victims with financial and other aid.

Speaking June 20 at the Confluence St. Louis Community Forum on Crime Victimization, Hartigan said: "The innocent victims of crime — not just the criminals — are entitled to justice. They have needs as the result of a crime."

"It is the responsibility of government to see that those needs are met. Victims deserve better treatment than criminals, and too often that is not the case," Hartigan said.

Victims of crime, he said, have improved the victim justice system by:

- Developing a bill of rights for innocent victims of crime;
- Establishing the 1984 Violent Crime Victims Assistance Act, a law that has provided $2.3 million in grants to 100 not-for-profit agencies statewide;
- Eliminating the backlog in the Illinois Crime Victims Compensation Act, and administering a program that provides over $3.5 million annually to victims of crime;

Receiving a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice for the office for coordinating efforts to develop a sexual assault evidence collection kit meant for nationwide adaptation.

Establishing a clearinghouse with a toll-free number (1-800-228-3368) to provide victim information to various agencies.

Missouri recently passed new laws to benefit crime victims, and that state is using the Illinois system and Hartigan's office as a model for its programs.

"My experience since I became attorney general 3½ years ago has convinced me nothing is more important to the cause of victims' justice than cooperation among all as well as receiving the 'Lioness of the Year' award in 1984 for outstanding community service.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leleniewski, 1621 Third St., Madison. She is employed by the U.S. government in St. Louis.

Social Security business can be conducted by phone

"Many people in the local area are not aware that they can take care of a great deal of their business with Social Security over the telephone," Oliver Holmes, Social Security manager, said.

The best time to call Social Security is after the middle of the month, he said, because the first part of the month is usually a very busy time.

"Of course, if a person has urgent business, he or she should call at any time. Your business can be expedited by having your Social Security number ready available when you call."

He said the telephone can be used to:

- Start an application for Social Security or supplemental security income payments.
- Apply for Medicare.
- Report a change in marital status, name or address.

• Report starting or stopping work.

• Report a lost or stolen check or delayed payment.

• Find out how to apply for a Social Security number.

• Get information on completing Medicare claims forms.

• Get information about direct deposit of checks.

• Request a statement of Social Security earnings.

• Get help in solving claims decisions received.

• Ask any question about Social Security or get a free publication.

The East St. Louis Social Security office is located at 650 Missouri Ave. The telephone number is 482-9430 or, if this is a long-distance-call, the caller may dial the operator and ask for Enterprise 1-555.

Farm loan committee members to be chosen

Selection of two Farmers Home Association county committee members will take place on June 30, Gary L. Mersinger announced.

It is the first time that FMHA county committee members have been elected. Until now they were designated by the agency. The 1985 Farm Bill calls for two elected and one designated member on the committee.

The county committee assists the county office in determining the eligibility of applicants for certain types of FMHA loans.

County offices in Madison and St. Clair counties have their principal farming operation within the area and derive the principal part of their income from farming are eligible to vote. Nominated for the Madison-St. Clair committee are Anton "Tony" Ranek, Martha Weis, Louis Wiemers and Marcella "Sally" Hohrlein.

Voting ballots are available from the FMHA county office at 1304 Hillsboro Ave., P.O. Box 424, Edwardsville, 62025.

The closure is necessary to allow railroad crews, as part of their maintenance program, to replace the existing rail and ties with new material and to restore theross surface.

"This work by the railroad will provide a smoother, safer crossing," Dale L. Klohs, IDOT district engineer, said.

Mitchell rail crossing set to be repaved

The Illinois Department of Transportation reports that Chain of Rocks Road in Mitchell will be closed to traffic at the Alton & Southern Railroad crossing for three days beginning June 30, 8 a.m. through 4 p.m., ending July 2.

Train traffic will be detoured over Illinois 111, Interstate 270 and Illinois 203.

The closure is necessary to allow railroad crews, as part of their maintenance program, to replace the existing rail and ties with new material and to restore theross surface.

"This work by the railroad will provide a smoother, safer crossing," Dale L. Klohs, IDOT district engineer, said.

WOMAN DRIVER HURT AT 25TH AND IOWA STREETS

Granite City — A woman, 35, of 1510 Clark Ave., was injured at 2:35 p.m. June 20 when her eastbound auto and a northbound step-van operated by Danny R. Warfield, 37, of 2610 Madison Ave., collided at Iowa and 25th streets.

The woman was hurt for failure to yield the right-of-way. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

TWO BICYCLES STOLEN FROM PRATHER SCHOOL

Bicycles of two students attending summer school classes at Prather School were stolen from the bike rack, it was reported Friday.

A 20-inch dirt bike with white frame, belonging to Jason Yarber, 16, of Logan Ave., was taken after a security chain was broken. A 20-inch bicycle, owned by Jason Raynor, 24, Illinois Ave., also was stolen while it was chained to the rack.

GIRL, 16, IS ARRESTED

A police officer alleged seeing a 16-year-old Granite City girl staggering along the sidewalk in the 2500 block of Iowa Street about 3:35 a.m. June 21. When he spoke with her, the girl became abusive and profane, he alleged. She was charged with curfew violation and was released to her father on a notice to appear for a hearing.

WOMAN'S FINGER BROKEN BY A MAN WHO BEAT HER

Tina Carroll, 23, reported at 5:35 p.m. June 20 she suffered a broken finger during an argument the previous day.

Police went to Carroll's home in the 1400 block of Madison Ave. after she had broken the door and her clothing thrown into the yard that day. Boxes she had packed also were turned over.

A man began hitting her on the head during an argument at 5 p.m. June 19, Carroll said. When she pushed him, he had his fist in the man's grabbed the hand and bent the fingers backward, causing the middle finger to break.

The assailant left but returned about 30 minutes later, created another disturbance and threw a cigarette at her, hitting her on the right leg. He also kicked and damaged a door on her auto, she alleged.

Carroll went to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of the injured finger.

$500 DAMAGE IN CAR FIRE

A fire did $500 damage June 21 to a 1976 Dodge van owned by Earl C. Voss of 2916 Saratoga St. The blaze started in the engine, where it was contained. The car was parked in the 3800 block of Nameoki Road at the time of the fire.

Anti-terrorist state law sought

Gov. James R. Thompson gave his support Friday to Senate Bill 2006, which would make various paramilitary and terrorist group activities a felony.

"The legislation is a sad commentary on the state of world affairs," the governor said. "But we cannot make unreasonable men and women act reasonably by turning our backs on reality. The increasing incidence of terrorism and civil disorder in this decade has pointed out the need for stronger law enforcement options to deter terrorist activities."

SB 2006 makes it unlawful to teach or demonstrate the use of explosive devices or techniques which could result in injury or death when it is known that they will be used unlawfully. And the legislation prohibits assembling to learn how to use such dangerous devices for unlawful or disruptive purposes.

Law enforcement officials, federal agents, the armed forces and shooting clubs are exempted from the bill.

"This bill safeguards the rights of citizens by making it a felony to simulate. A person must know that his or her actions are intended for unlawful purposes to be in violation of the law," Thompson said. "And those people who should rightfully be allowed to use and practice with these devices are specifically excluded from the provisions of the bill."

"But for those who seek a public forum through violence and piracy, this bill will make our purpose clear from the outset. They will not tolerate vengeance and wanton acts of malevolence for any reason or purpose."

"I support Bill 2006 to give us a tool to act before terrorists strike. It is a tool we must have."

$300 DAMAGE IN CAR FIRE

A fire did $300 damage June 18 to a 1972 auto owned by Vince Goodman, 4077 Brune Ave. The fire was limited to the engine compartment, which was parked on a lot at 2401 Nameoki Road. Part of the paint on the hood of the auto was burned off. The cause of the fire was a carburetor backfire, firemen said.

PAINT SCRATCHED ON AUTO

Kathy Cozer of 1312a 25th St. told police June 21 someone used a sharp object to scratch the paint on the hood and left side of her car.

Illinois prison inmates have nearly doubled in a decade

Illinois' prison population has nearly doubled in the last 10 years, a figure which has contributed to a more than four-fold increase in the budget for the Department of Corrections, Comptroller Roland W. Burris has reported.

His monthly report underscores the increasing prominence of law enforcement in Illinois. The department's budget has ballooned from a fiscal 1976 level of $92.4 million to $413.1 million in fiscal 1985, a rise of $320.7 million.

Much of the budget increase stems from a prison population explosion itself. In 1976, Illinois prisons housed 9,182 inmates. By 1985, the prison population reached 17,649.

Operations expenses account for 80.4 percent of the department's budget in fiscal 1985. And personnel services accounted for 60 percent of the department's operations spending in 1985.

In 1976, DOC employed 4,895 persons; in fiscal 1985, 9,839 were employed by the department. Personnel costs increased from $109.2 million, up 3.4 times from the $38.8 million level in 1976.

The corrections budget will continue to grow rapidly as new facilities are opened in the near future. But the state's prison capacity will soon increase from 10,410 to 20,071 with the opening of two 900-bed, medium security facilities at Danville and Galesburg, the addition of 64 beds at Shawnee, 622 beds at Dixon and new beds at community correctional facilities.

Gov. James Thompson has called for the construction of another medium security prison. He has asked for legislative approval for funding the construction of medium security prisons at Canton and Mt. Sterling and will announce a third site in the future.

Corrections officials say the prison population explosion is attributed to greater prosecution of adults and a tougher Illinois Criminal Code.

Annual costs are estimated at $15,416 for housing an adult inmate and $25,723 for a juvenile. The difference in the support rates is because of the higher rates of juveniles housed in Illinois facilities. There were 1,136 juveniles incarcerated in Illinois facilities in 1985.

Spending on Capital Development Fund has also skyrocketed within the last decade. New prison construction has contributed to the increase in capital spending from $3.8 million in fiscal 1976 to $78.8 million in 1985.

The prison population produces many of the commodities consumed by the inmates. Correctional facilities operate four farms which produce grain, milk and meat for inmate consumption.

Industries also produce beds and bedding, inmate clothing and personal hygiene products used in the prisons.

Prison industries generated $13 million in revenue in fiscal 1985, compared to just $2.2 million in 1976. Sales of the products are restricted by statute to state agencies, local governments and non-profit organizations.

Legislation would aid jail funding

Legislation creating a $75 million revolving loan fund to provide low-interest state loans to counties and cities for building jails and lockups passed the Illinois House June 20.

It easily passed the Senate but must go back to the chamber for agreement with amendments before going to the governor.

Supporters contend since counties and municipalities are required by the state Department of Corrections to meet certain standards for jails and lockups, the state should help finance the construction. Other measures to provide outright state grants for local jail construction have either failed in the General Assembly or been vetoed by the governor. Opponents have primarily argued it is unfair to counties which have already built new jails without any financial assistance. Among counties that have done so is Madison County.

However, if existing jails are expanded, they could also qualify for the loan program.

The legislation moving through the Assembly would provide low-interest loans from the fund to be paid over a period of up to 10 years.

Repayment to the fund would replenish it, allowing other cities and counties to borrow from it.

The legislation would allow counties to grant day for day "good time" sentence reductions to prisoners, except those who have committed bodily harm. Only persons convicted of misdemeanors are sentenced to county jails.

AIR BRAKE LINES CUT

Tim Jordan, 708 Kirkpatrick Homes, told police at 7:50 a.m. June 20 that someone cut the air brake lines on a tractor-trailer truck belonging to a trailer National of Fort Wayne, Ind., while the vehicle was parked in the 1700 block of the housing complex.

GC MAN SERVED WARRANT

Ronald Martin, 32, of 2569 Madison Ave., was served a warrant June 23 on a disorderly conduct charge. He was released on $102 cash bail.

WOMAN'S MAN ARRESTED

Dennis M. Honchak, 38, of 3940 Park Lane, Pontoon Beach, was arrested June 23 for battery following an incident in the 2300 block of Nameoki Road. He allegedly hit his wife, Carol, 315 Watson, 23, in the left side of her face with his fist. Honchak was lodged in the Pontoon Beach jail before being taken to the Granite City police station. He was released on $52 cash bail.

WINDOW, LIGHTS, MIRROR OF PARKED TRUCK DAMAGED

Wayne Heath of 412 Madison Ave. said June 24 someone broke the driver's side window, the left side mirror and both lower fog lights on his truck. It was parked in the 1500 block of State Street.

WOMAN BOOKED BY POLICE

Denise R. Dove, 25, of 3910 Kirkpatrick Homes, was arrested June 25 with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. Police alleged seeing her yelling at a man in front of Curt's Grill on Madison Avenue. While she was being placed in a squad car, she allegedly kicked at and pulled away from officers.

She is serving the district as chairperson of the public relations committee and, as such, is editor of the newsletter, Have You Heard?

Niggli's belief about the relationship between being a nurse and a member of the American Nurses Association can best be exemplified in her own words: "Membership in your professional organization is part of being a nurse."

Gladys Niggli, the INA salutes you for your contribution to nursing and welcomes your continued involvement.

Doctors praise court ruling for malpractice law reform

"Illinois patients won a great victory in the state Supreme Court's decision to uphold the very heart of medical malpractice reform proposed by the General Assembly last year."

This assessment came from Illinois State Medical Society (ISMS) President Jere E. Freidheim, M.D., in response to news that Illinois' top court had affirmed four out of five challenged components of the reform law.

In a decision June 20, the court upheld structured verdicts, abolition of punitive damages, collateral source reductions, and contingent fee limits for medical malpractice cases. Pre-trial settlements were nixed.

These five elements constituted the money-saving elements of Illinois' comprehensive malpractice reform law, according to the ISMS.

They were signed into law a year ago, on June 25, 1985, and took effect last August. Just one hour after Gov. Thompson signed the legislation, a Chicago plaintiff attorney filed a taxpayer lawsuit to bar state officials from implementing the law.

In December 1985, Cook County Circuit Court Judge Joseph Wasik ruled against all five reform provisions, precipitating a direct appeal to the state Supreme Court.

Calling the reaffirmed reforms a substantial first step, Freidheim said doctors will continue efforts aimed at "restoring balance to the court system."

"Illinois physicians will next year present two more essential reforms for state legislative deliberation: caps on contingency fees and a more reasonable statute of limitations for minors injured through medical negligence."

"Those truly injured will get speedy justice and fair compensation under the new law."

All patients will benefit for a long time to come from this court action, which can break down the barriers to cost-effective, quality health care."

The ISMS represents physicians statewide.

More radiological training proposed

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

Reinforced training for emergency personnel in radiological detection and intervention by state agencies and volunteer organizations during emergencies were key points in an advanced emergency management seminar held in Springfield.

Coordinator Dick Ervay of the Granite City Emergency Services and Disaster Agency, Civil Defense Director and Sharon A. Wickham, local ESDA associate, were among those attending the three-day conference.

The SEMINAR was sponsored by the Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency. Other purposes included updating local ESDA coordinators and key staff members on new and revised objectives.

Ervay said the primary purpose, however, is to acquaint local ESDA leaders with other state agencies and volunteer organizations that may be required to interface in emergency preparedness and response situations in local communities.

MAJOR POINTS also stressed during the seminar were radiological training and preparedness and various aspects of the Illinois Chemical Safety Act, Ervay said.

In the coming months, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) will emphasize radiological training and preparedness to deal with nuclear power plants, radiological materials and also with possible nuclear attack, the coordinator said.

Training will be given emergency service personnel, such as fire, police and city employees, on how to take readings for radiation levels.

The instruction also will focus on how best to protect themselves and the population should a nuclear incident occur.

The Illinois Chemical Safety Act was explained to the ESDA leaders at the conference.

DESCRS ALSO was local ESDA responsibility for working with industries in their communities to formulate written and workable plans for hazardous chemical protection, Ervay said.

Workshop and advisory sessions were conducted by Eugene Field of the Illinois Department of Nuclear Safety, Larry Stainton of the Illinois Department of Transportation and Major Daniel Cedusky of the Illinois National Guard.

After describing their emergency preparedness roles in the state agency's plan were French Wetmore of the Department of Water Resources, Ralph Foster, Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, Donna Smith, Lifeline, Inc., and Michaeluse American Red Cross, Major John W. McElroy of the Salvation Army and an Illinois State Police representative.

Illinois ESDA Director Charles D. Jones and Dave Smith, chief of field services for the state emergency services agency, keynoted the conference at a dinner meeting.

"The Role of Public Information in Emergency Management" was the topic of Gregg Durham, state ESDA public information officer, who also spoke at the dinner.

Training will be given emergen-

CancerCare

Q. I had a mastectomy 10 years ago. Is it too late to have reconstructive surgery done?

T.R. Butler, Pa.

A. It's never too late to have reconstructive surgery of the breast or head and neck area. Restoration of one's body image and the feeling of "wholeness" is crucial to many women. Timing of reconstructive surgery depends on many factors, including the condition of the chest wall skin and the patient's general physical and emotional health.

The relatively little difference in the outcome of breast reconstruction between one year and 10 years after the mastectomy. All that is required is the desire for the reconstruction and a commitment to the two or more surgical procedures required to accomplish it. Linda Shuck, MD, Surgery.

Q. I work in an office where everyone smokes. I've read that even nonsmokers can get cancer by inhaling secondhand smoke. Is that true? M.P., Parma, Ohio

A. Further study is still required of this problem. Studies in several countries have shown that nonsmokers exposed to the smoke of others (passive smoking) may have an increased risk of lung cancer. This has not been accepted by all authorities on the subject.

Most lung specialists do feel that, given the well-documented discomfort to nonsmokers caused by passive smoking, smoking should be banned from the work place. Michael L. Nochomovitz, MD, Pulmonary Medicine.

Q. I've got cancer, and I'm worried about my medical bills. Is any financial help available? F.E., Akron, Ohio

A. Depending on an individual's particular situation, financial assistance may be available from the American Cancer Society, the Leukemia Society, the Social Security Administration or the Department of Health and Human Services.

There are also private foundations and special funds sometimes available to help out on a one-time basis or in a limited way. Judy MacKintosh, ACSW, Sen. W.D. Jones, who recently had my bladder will have to be removed because of cancer, and as a result, I'll have to wear a bag to collect my urine. In addition, says I will become impotent. At my age (60), this bothers me. Can't anything else be done? M.R., Toledo, Ohio

A. There's a new approach to urinary drainage after bladder removal. In men, it's usually possible to construct a reservoir out of the large intestine that serves as a substitute bladder and allows the patient to urinate normally. In women, we have been hooking the urinary system directly into the large intestine.

In the past, bladder removal in men invariably led to impotence. It's now possible to preserve the nerves responsible for erection in many cases. If the nerves can't be preserved, other treatments, such as drug therapy, can be used to restore potency. Elroy Kursh MD, Urology.

Len Bias had it all

Len Bias seemingly had it all. He was labeled as a "sure thing" coming into the NBA. At 6'4 and 210 pounds, Bias was projected for stardom in the professional basketball ranks.

Bias, 22, was the second player picked overall in the NBA. His earlier in the month won their 16th NBA crown, had virtually guaranteed Bias a spot as their sixth man.

As the song says, Len Bias had "the world on a string and sitting on a rainbow."

But at 8:50 p.m. on Thursday, June 19, — two days after he was drafted — Bias was pronounced dead of cardio-respiratory arrest at Leland Memorial Hospital in Riverdale, Md. Quite simply, his heart had stopped beating.

The world had crumbled.

Less than 12 hours after Bias' death, reports circulated that traces of cocaine were found in Bias' urine. Yesterday, results of an autopsy confirmed the suspicions.

Bias was a great athlete. While at the University of Maryland, he was twice named the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year. He averaged 23.2 points per game as a senior. He also was a first team All-American.

Scouts said he was as close to being a can't miss star as any player ever coming out of college.

Bias did not sign a contract with Boston, but speculation was that he could have earned about $500,000 a year (including bonuses and incentives) had he survived.

Uncertainty still surrounds Bias' death. Why would a person who seemingly had everything risk it by using cocaine? Was he dared into sampling the drug? Medical examiners said the amount of cocaine Bias used was a large amount, with most standard tests failing to detect it.

Ironically, Bias is the third former Maryland basketball player to die before reaching the age of 23.

In 1976, Chris Patton died when his aorta burst. He was 21. Months earlier, Owen Brown died of a rare heart disease during a pickup game. His heart had grown uncontrollably and stiffened. He was 22.

Whatever reason Bias chose drugs that night, it just emphasizes the fact that life, no matter how it's lived, is all too short.

I'm a recent father. My daughter, Elizabeth, just turned three months old. This incident had impact.

Here was an athlete considered perfect fit. Bias had taken two intense physicals before draft. In fact, hours before his death, his roommates saw Bias run to his car.

I'm as physically fit as I should be, but also not too out of shape. Still, the sudden death of an athlete makes you start to wonder.

Life is precious. Moments pass rather quickly, so they should be lived to the fullest. Now, when I spend time with my daughter, I try to make sure I give her an extra kiss and just a little more attention.

Legend and Bias will be remembered as a great college basketball player. His uniform No. 34 will be retired by the University of Maryland, the first time that has happened in the school's history.

Maybe Bias experimented with life in the "fast lane" — too much money and fame too quickly.

Triplets' rally falls short, 4-3

By Gregg Ochoa*

Executive Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — The situation was perfect for the Tri-City legion team. Trailing by one run, no one baserunner loaded, bottom of the seventh inning and the No. 3 and 4 hitters due up.

"We had it going for us," said Tri-City manager Dave Coakley. "We had two good hitters up there who could drive the ball to the outfield."

Unfortunately, the ball never left the infield and the Triplets' rally fell short as they lost 4-3 to Troy in a North Division game Wednesday night.

Tri-City is now 3-3 in league play (4 overall). Troy is 2-13 in legion play.

The Triplets had a chance to win the game in regulation.

Pinch-hitter Mark Bowen walked on five pitches to start the inning. Troy then brought in Steve Schaefer to replace starter Phil Half. Schaefer walked Darin Hendrickson and Jamie Hogan pulled Tri-City to within a run with a shot to left field that hit near the base of the fence. Eric Gray, running for Bowen, easily scored on the hit.

Chomicki, whose single in the third had scored Tri-City's first two runs, walked to load the bases again.

Troy countered with left-hander Ryan Lewis, who had started the game and held to John Moid, both left-handed batters.

Lewis who threw a lot of off-speed pitches, coaxed Hinterter to pop out.

Moid then hit a grounder to first that Tom Weiss fielded and threw to catcher Mike Dresch to end the rally at home. Moid was thrown out at first to complete the game-ending double play.

"I think we were a little too anxious up there," Coakley said of the final two at-bats. "We were swinging at a lot of balls (and) not waiting on the pitcher."

The loss spoiled a perfect opportunity for the Triplets to gain ground in the not-too-strong North Division. Tri-City had won two in a row, but let a 4-1 lead slip by against Bethalto on Tuesday. The game was suspended with the score tied at 4-4 because of darkness and will be resumed at a later date.

"I was hoping we could get things turned around," Coakley said. "We just can't get too down on ourselves. There's still a lot of baseball to be played and we are going to win our share of games."

Jamie Hogan kept the Triplets in this game as he pitched three innings in relief of Moid. Hogan didn't allow a run, struck out three and didn't issue any walks.

However, he hit a batter in the seventh.

"Jamie came in and did a fine job," Coakley said. "I was kind of disappointed that John (Moid) couldn't go longer."

Moid pitched the game and gave up all of Troy's runs, lasting just two-thirds of an inning before being stationed at first base for the remainder of the game. One of the runs was unearned.

Summerlot opened the game with an infield hit and stole second.

Hogan, Hall to play at Georgetown

By Dave Whealey

Staff writer

Georgetown University basketball coach John Thompson might get an up-close look at some prospective future Hoyas when the Amateur Athletic Union/Junior Olympic basketball Under Boys basketball tournament is held in Washington July 21-26.

There will be 40 teams at the tourney, including the East Side Athletics, a team made up of players from the St. Louis metropolitan area and outlying areas.

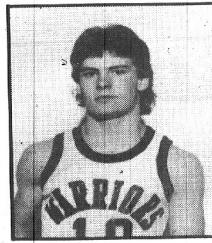

Two of the starters on that team are very familiar to Tri-City area basketball fans. The guards are Granite City's sharp-shooting Tim Hogan and Venice's spectacular Jesse Hall.

Tim and Hogan start along with two players from East St. Louis Lincoln, the team that knocked Granite City out of the sectionals in March. The two Tigers are Chris Rogers and LaPhonso Ellis.

The other star is John Duff of Webster Groves (who has signed to play at Wake Forest) by two points.

The Athletics then won another game by three points over Sportspoint to advance to the national tournament.

"We've been playing some practice games since the regional to stay ready," said Moyer. "We lost

Belleville Area College and won by 19 points.

Then it was on to the Ozark Regional in St. Ann, Mo., April 19-20. The Athletics won the first game by forfeit, but then edged a team featuring Webster Groves (who has signed to play at Wake Forest) by two points.

The Athletics then won another game by three points over Sportspoint to advance to the national tournament.

"We've been playing some practice games since the regional to stay ready," said Moyer. "We lost some close games to some teams that came down from the Chicago area, but we should be ready."

Jesse Hall

Ellis is the team's leading scorer, but Moyer said both Hogan and Hall have made significant contributions.

"Jesse has been a little erratic," Moyer said. "He's missed a lot of practice because of all the camps he's been to. He's a one-sport guy, and he's been playing a lot of basketball."

"I've been trying to get him to work more on an outside shot,

Local girls play soccer on select team

By Gregg Ochoa

Executive Sports Editor

Fifteen Granite Citizens took part in a girls select soccer tournament held June 20-22 at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside.

Four local girls, Granite City's Julie Macios and Mary Furfarro of Collinsville, were picked to play in an all-star game (30 girls were chosen) and a possible berth on a Regional Select Team. The selection was Macios' second and Moyer's first. Both played on the Under 19 team.

Three teams — Under 14, Under 16 and Under 19 — made the trip north. In all, 12 states were represented. They included Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Kentucky and Iowa.

"In all three age groups the Illinois teams distinguished themselves as the best in the country," said Gene Briggs, the select team coordinator for the Southern Region. Briggs was also one of the coaches of the Under 19 team.

"I've been trying to get him to work more on an outside shot,

Optimists rally to win in seventh

By Liz Stark
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — If anyone left the game in the sixth inning Tuesday night at Varsity Field, they missed an incredible seventh inning as the Optimists beat Waterloo 8-7 with four runs in the bottom of the seventh.

The Optimists showed Waterloo what Granite City was really made of after Waterloo had scored five in the top of the seventh to take a 7-4 lead.

In the first inning Mike Lane hit a double, then homered for the first hit of the night. Tim Patterson then hit a clean double past the shortstop to bring the lead run to third. Rich Wilson then brought in the run with a hit to make it 1-0.

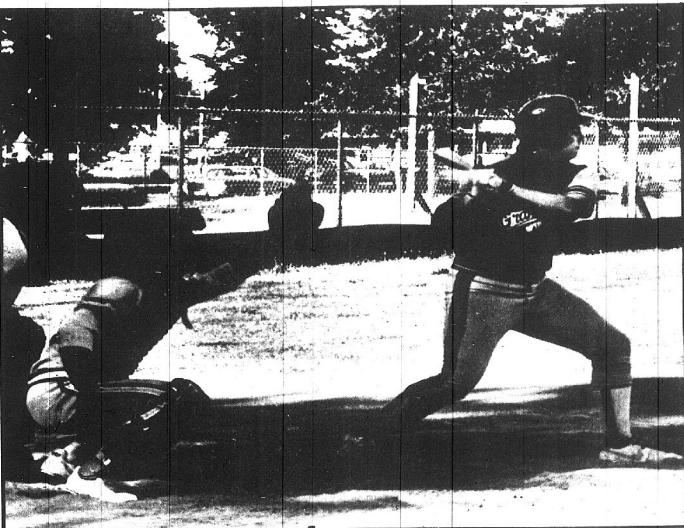

In the third, the Optimists added to the scoreboard with a single to right fielder again to reach first base. Charlie Collins then stepped to the plate. This time, Collins hit a home run to left field to up the score to 3-0.

Optimists hurler Darin Hendrickson kept the Waterloo boys scoreless until the sixth inning, when two runs were brought in to close the gap to 4-2.

The seventh inning was anything but realistic. Although the Optimists had bad luck in the top of the seventh, they ended with the last three runs.

Waterloo came back in the top of the seventh to take the lead. Hendrickson got two of the outs, but three hits were followed by a triple and a home run by left fielder Nick Ahrens. Two of the four hits in the inning were off the glove of right fielder Randy Chapman which he could not see and missed to advance the runners.

The Optimists' lead now looked to be a sure-fire loss, with the Optimists losing by three runs.

But the Optimists did not look down on the fact they were losing. Hendrickson came off the mound, with relief pitcher Mark Begando getting the last out of the inning.

The hopes were down by this time with Mills and Collins making the first two outs. After that, everything was downhill for the Waterloo team, with Patterson and Wilson reaching base on errors. Mike Georgeff, Hendrickson and Chapman all walked to bring in Patterson and Wilson to bring the score to 7-7. Dave Chapman then had a single by the second baseman to tie the score 7-7. Lane then reached base on an error to bring in Chapman to win the game, 8-7.

The win upset the Optimists' record to 11-11. They are 4-4 in divisional play. Their next Edardsville at 4 p.m. Saturday and have a home game at 7:30 p.m. Saturday against Red Bud.

Also serving as coaches were Ed Hagnauer (Under 14) and Dave Ames (Under 16). Both are from Granite City.

Team point winners kept and trophies were awarded in the round-robin event.

"It was just an opportunity to showcase some of the best players in the state and hopefully get them some exposure," Liggett said. "A lot of college coaches were there."

In competition, Illinois fared well. The three teams combined to post a 6-4 record. The Under 14 team was 2-1-2, as was the Under 16 team. The Under 14 team did not allow a goal in its first three games before losing to Missouri and Ohio South.

Granite City players who participated were:

- Under 14: Jennifer Moniz, Jennifer Hagnauer, Shelly Reynolds, Kim Powlak, Carrie Ross and Erin Byer.
- Under 16: Jennifer Dibbe, Alice Loftus, Ann Krystopa and Ann Szczepanik.

Also playing on the select team were girls from Collinsville, Belleville and O'Fallon.

NOTES: Furfare was the leading goal scorer for the Under 19 team. She had three goals...Szczepanik scored one goal for the Under 16 team...Loftus, a goaltender, allowed just one goal. She also was moved up to the Under 19 team...The 1987 select tournament will be held in Indianapolis.

because it's something he's going to have to do as he goes on. He knows now that he can take the ball to the basket and get 30 points. But I think he will work on it and become an even better player."

Hogan is "very peculiar" in a couple of games, Moyer said.

"This one of those guys who takes a shot from way out and the coach is yelling 'no, no,' and then it goes in and you say 'yes, yes.' Moyer said. "He's a good player who really tries to make things happen."

The 40 teams that go to Washington will be placed into four first teams each. They will play round-robin, with the first and second place teams in each bracket moving on to the final rounds.

"We need to do two things to do well up there," Moyer said. "We need to play a little more together. The Chicago teams that came down here played some man-toman defense that kind of slowed us down. The second thing is we need to keep Ellis out of foul trouble. He's our only true center, so he has to be in there."

Encephalitis warning —end mosquito sites

The Illinois Department of Public Health at a recent meeting of commissioners, to eliminate Culex mosquitoes breeding sites from their yards in an effort to avert cases of St. Louis encephalitis later in this summer.

Weather conditions this year have been favorable to the Culex mosquitoes, Dr. Bernard J. Turnock, IDPH director, said.

Although birds are the carriers of the virus, St. Louis encephalitis is a mosquito-borne disease.

Culex mosquitoes, which transmit the disease from birds to humans, usually feed on birds during the first half of the summer. "It's during this period that the mosquitoes not only pick up the virus from the birds, but transmit the disease to other birds which, in turn, infect other mosquitoes," Turnock explained.

From mid-to-late summer, the mosquitoes change their feeding habits from birds to humans and may transmit the disease to people. The bite of Culex mosquitoes can easily go unnoticed because they are small and gentle biters.

Turnoch said the first two juvenile birds to test positive for the St. Louis encephalitis antibodies since 1983.

St. Louis encephalitis is a serious disease which affects the central nervous system, and can be fatal.

Symptoms of the disease usually begin 10 to 14 days following the bite of an infected mosquito. The first symptoms include headache, high fever and muscle aches. These symptoms are followed by stiffness in the back of the neck, problems with muscular coordination, disorientation or confusion. If any of these symptoms occur, prompt medical attention is essential.

In 1975, nearly 600 cases of the disease were reported in Illinois and 17 died. In 1976, there were 19 cases of St. Louis encephalitis in the state; 13 in 1977; none in 1978 and 1979; four in 1980; none in 1981; two in 1982; two in 1983; and none in 1984 or 1985. One death (in 1982) has occurred since 1975.

The disease does not affect the rats or mosquitoes which carry the virus.

He advised Illinois residents to remove from their yards any containers which might collect water, such as small amounts of water in bird baths, drainage ditches should be cleaned, and low spots in the ground which will hold water should be drained or filled in.

Small streams may become breeding sites during dry weather if the stream ceases to flow and becomes stagnant. Advice on breeding sites from the state health department is available from the state health department or from local health departments. Water that collects in ornamental items should be emptied out once a week.

During mid-May, state health department personnel began taking blood samples from birds to determine whether the St. Louis encephalitis virus is present in the bird population. Turnock said that monitoring the birds is the important first step in determining whether there is a potential for human cases of the disease in later summer.

Two of the nearly 400 juvenile birds tested between May 12 and June 5 were positive for antibodies to the St. Louis encephalitis virus.

"Although two positive tests is not an alarming number," Turnock said, "it is an indication of virus activity and a signal that preventive measures should be taken."

One of the positive birds was found near Glen Carbon and the other in Hamilton County.

Turnock said these are the first two juvenile birds to test positive for the St. Louis encephalitis antibodies since 1983.

St. Louis encephalitis is a serious disease which affects the central nervous system, and can be fatal.

Symptoms of the disease usually begin 10 to 14 days following the bite of an infected mosquito. The first symptoms include headache, high fever and muscle aches.

These symptoms are followed by stiffness in the back of the neck, problems with muscular coordination, disorientation or confusion. If any of these symptoms occur, prompt medical attention is essential.

A school crossing guard was paid $1.50 per hour — School Board Member Ed Dohnal said the sum was incorrect.

The crossing guard at McCormick Avenue works four hours a day, five days a week, is in session and is paid $2.55 per hour from the Board of Education and an additional $2.55 per hour is paid by the City of Madison, Dohnal said.

Board members authorized the superintendent to pay the school crossing guard $2.55 per hour.

The contract was extended for the 1986-87 school year at an additional 1.5 percent increase.

The board declined a Harmon proposal for one-year extensions in 1988-89 and 1989-90 not to exceed a 5 percent increase over each prior year.

Board approval was granted to provide $500 to aid the Early Childhood Enrichment Program conducted in Harris and Blair Schools. The request from Mental Health Services of Southern Madison County noted funds from the Mental Health Board of Madison County have basically remained at the same level for three years and do not provide enough money for all facets of the project.

The $500 will help pay the salary of two part-time child aides who conduct the program.

Also approved was $1,830 for dues to the Illinois Association of School Boards.

The superintendent was given permission to send in reservations for the annual IASB conference set for Nov. 21-23.

MADISON — A new liability insurance policy for the school district was approved by the school board June 19. Cost to the district increased from $800 to $2,275 a year plus a $100 service fee.

Auxiliary police sought

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

The Granite City Emergency Services and Disaster Agency/Civil Defense is planning to expand its auxiliary police unit and volunteers currently being sought, ESDA Director Dick Ervay, auxiliary police Chief Bill Harris said this week.

Applications are available at the ESDA office, located on the lower floor of the Granite City Police Building, 2330 Madison Ave., between the hours of 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, or from the police department.

Men and women, 18 years and over, who are interested in becoming an active part of a non-profit organization are invited to apply for consideration as auxiliary officers, Ervay said.

Membership in the auxiliary corps can change one's lifestyle and interests and, at the same time, provide service to the community in time of need, he explained.

Training is provided by the Granite City Police Department and coordinated with Captain Glen Wright and Auxiliary Police Chief John Becker.

Part of the training involves the operation of emergency equipment which often is used upon request of citizens and individuals or others in the private sector, Ervay said.

Those applying are required to have a Granite City mailing address and a valid Illinois driver's license, Chief Harris said.

Prior to accepting an individual for training, a background check will be made, the chief police added.

Airports get phone device for the deaf

Effective July 1, all Illinois airports and train depots which provide commercial passenger services within a 20-mile radius of cities with a population of 25,000 or more must have communication devices for the deaf (TDD) for use by the hearing impaired.

HB 894, signed into law last year by Gov. James R. Thompson, states that a TDD must be available from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. outside of the first plane or train during the day until one hour after the last plane or train arrives.

Graphics will be displayed on signs at airports and train stations. Each sign will measure 16 by 15 inches and will be white lettered on a black field, similar to the blue and white handicapped signs presently displayed in public places.

A TDD is a portable communication device which is auxiliary to a ordinary telephone. It has the appearance of a small portable typewriter.

A TDD allows communication between a person who is hearing impaired with a similar device which electronically interprets the signals sent by the caller as typed on the keyboard. The person receiving the message must also have a TDD to receive the caller's message.

Last year, the Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services established a toll-free Illinois phone number (1-800-468-9221) for a message relay system that would relay calls made by people with hearing impairments using TDDs to another party using traditional telephone services.

This third-party relay system is located at the Jacksonville Community Center for the Deaf. An increasing number of messages is being handled as more and more people with hearing impairments are made aware of the system.

The system is now relaying over 1,400 calls a month," said Susan S. Siter, DORS director. "Illinois residents who are hearing-impaired and live outside of the Chicago area (telephone area code 312) have a means of relaying messages to the hearing community."

The Jacksonville system was patterned after a similar third-party relay system that was already in operation in the Chicago area.

State government income lower than was forecast

Bureau of the Budget Director Robert Mandeville said the current revenue projections are, for fiscal 1986 $10,530 billion and, for 1987, $10,994 billion.

These figures are just below the previous estimate for 1986 and 2 percent lower than the previous 1985 projection.

In a letter to the appropriations chairmen and the minority spokesmen in each house, Mandeville said he will conduct a final review in July so the governor can take necessary action on the budget following legislative consideration.

"The governor has stated that the fiscal 1987 budget will be balanced without new taxes," Mandeville told the committee leaders.

3-day course offered

The State Center for Management Studies will offer a three-day course, "Systems Analysis and Design," at the Henry VIII Inn and Lodge, 469 N. Lindbergh Blvd., St. Louis, on July 9-11.

"Spending will be reduced so that government can be funded within projected revenues. Even at these levels, however, there will be a significant increase in spending for education," he said, adding that the governor's clear priority "Some legislators have questioned whether scheduled school reforms can be funded."

Mandeville said the new 1986 revenue projection is down $97 million, or 1 percent, from the previous projection in the fiscal 1987 budget book, which was based on January data.

He said the fiscal 1987 general funds' revenue estimate is now estimated to be down 2 percent from the budget estimate, a difference of $197 million on a base of $11 billion.

Senate OKs bills to ease children's trauma in court

Legislation designed to make it easier for juvenile sex victims going through court proceedings has been approved by the Illinois Senate.

A co-sponsor of the bills, Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Great Falls, says one measure (HB 2579) would give children 12 and younger to give court testimony on videotape prior to the start of a sex crime trial, while HB 2579 sets up a program to train prosecutors and law enforcement officials to handle juvenile sex victims and their problems.

"Children who are victims of sex crimes go through enough trauma without having to retell incidents over and over in open court," Wolf said. "Also, during cross-examination the child attorney and judge would be located in a separate room while the proceedings are telecast on a monitor to the jury and others in the courtroom.

"The training program would enable the prosecutor and law enforcement officials to better understand what the child is experiencing, and help the child with the trauma of going through the process used to charge and prosecute sex offenders."

Bill 2579 was sent to the governor after a 5-0 Senate vote. Bill 2581 was approved by senators 45-12, and will go back to the House for concurrence on a minor Senate amendment.

Bill would delay tougher courses

Legislation to postpone new, tougher minimum high school course requirements for entrance to the state's public universities has continued to advance in the General Assembly.

The House Elementary and Secondary Education committee voted to send the bill to the full House. It had already passed the Senate.

The state Board of Higher Education voted last year to impose more extensive high school course requirements for admission to public universities, starting in 1990. That would affect high school students starting with next year's freshman class.

The bill advancing in the legislature would postpone those requirements until 1993.

The requirements are four years of English, three years of social studies, three years of lab sciences, and two years of foreign languages, art or music.

Advocates of the postponement argued school districts need additional time to phase in the extra course offerings and noted they are more stringent than those required by the state for high school graduation.

The Illinois Association of School Boards supported the bill, saying districts need more phase-in time.

HAPPY TRAILS: Children visiting SIUE listen as Gary "Hawk" Hawkins of Granite City explains the wonders of nature and tells stories of the pioneer days. The children were touring the SIUE nature trail as a part of their field trip on the campus.

'Hawk' SIUE's answer to frontiersmen

Gary Hawkins may appear to be a mild-mannered psychology major, but when called upon to guide visitors along the nature trail at SIUE, he suddenly turns into "Hawk."

As a university ambassador, it is Hawkins' job to give tours. The nature trail tour explores the campus flora and fauna and offers ecological tips to campus visitors.

"It was a concept begun by Bob Williams, the former Director of the University Information Center. 'Because it was so popular, we decided to continue it.'

Hawkins not only has continued the tour; he has given it his own personal touch. In addition to take the name Hawk, he wears an all-leather costume which he stitched himself.

"I've done leather work for the past 10 years. One of my major projects is making clothing," Hawkins said.

Hawkins' mode of dress mirrors that of an 18th Century frontiersman. His outfit consists of a plaid poncho boot, a fringed shirt and a leather hat. A medicine bag and an Indian arrowhead dangle from his neck, and one hand holds a custom-made walking stick emblazoned with a letter symbol and the word Hawk.

"People have always called me Hawk because of my name.

Everybody likes the eagle, but I think hawks are prettier. The hawk is strong and looking like the early American frontiersman," Hawkins said.

The reactions were favorable on Hawkins' first nature tour dressed as Hawk, especially among the children.

"Their eyes got like half-dollars. They were full of questions," he said.

One of the purposes of the tour is to teach children how to identify plant life, poison ivy and various trees. Hawkins said he hopes to instill in them a respect for nature.

"I try to show them why you should keep nature like it is. We might not be here if we did a tree."

Though Hawkins has only conducted one tour in his person of Hawk, Graebe said she does not doubt the future success and popularity of the nature tour.

"I'm assuming it will be monumental. He is very enthusiastic," she said.

Nature trail tours are offered at any time and as a part of field trips, but it is necessary to make arrangements in advance. The University Information Center at least two weeks in advance. For further information, the Information Center can be reached at 692-2739.

Pupils to pick state fish

Illinois elementary school children will be able to elect an official state fish under a bill sent to Gov. James Thompson.

The Senate, on a 50-2 vote, completed legislation and sent the bill to the House June 18 to add an official fish to the state's growing list of official symbols.

"It's time we quit carrying around symbols for the children," said Senate sponsor Sen. Melvin G. Karis, R-Zion, following other fish bills in the Senate debate.

The carp is one of six nominees selected by the Illinois Department of Conservation to be in the running for state fish. The others are coho, bluegill, channel catfish, largemouth bass, and white crappie.

At least 20 other states already have state fishes.

Illinois school kids last voted the white-tailed deer the official state animal. Other symbols are the monarch butterfly (insect), violet (flower), cardinal (bird), white oak (tree) and fluorite (mineral).

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

An individual's credit standing is of great importance to the average consumer. Creditors often obtain information from credit bureaus in determining whether a consumer should be issued a credit card and what the limit of credit should be. In light of the Congress' recent action in the Fair Credit Reporting Act, consumer reporting agencies use reasonable procedures in providing information to potential creditors.

Consumer reporting agencies must furnish a credit report to the consumer himself if he requests it in writing. They also provide reports to any person who intends to use the information for credit transactions, employment or for underwriting insurance involving the consumer. It should be noted that the consumer report cannot contain information on bankruptcy cases more than ten years old or information on lawsuits and judgments more than seven years old.

Frequently clients ask what can be done if the information in the report is inaccurate. A consumer can request a report containing only accurate information in his credit report. The agency is then required to reinvestigate and delete any inaccurate information. If the dispute cannot be settled, the consumer is permitted to file a brief statement which sets forth the nature of the dispute. This statement must be included in any future consumer reports.

In a recent case, a credit reporting agency confused a consumer with a man having a similar name who had a poor credit record. Because of this confusion, the consumer was denied credit in numerous occasions. The consumer became aware of the problem and asked the credit reporting agency to reinvestigate, but did so negligently. Apparently, they never even bothered to compare the Social Security numbers of the two men. If the Social Security number had been checked, the plaintiff would have been corrected earlier. In light of this, the Court awarded the plaintiff $10,000 in actual damages and $4,485.00 in attorney's fees.

This case is an example of the potential liability which a consumer reporting agency faces for negligent acts under the Fair Credit Reporting Act. The injured consumer has two years to bring an action for violations of the act. It should be noted, however, that it will take considerable time and expense to get such an action to trial. It is still best to work these problems out directly with the credit bureau and the creditor receiving the inaccurate report.

Education grant given

The Madison Community Unit School District has received a $42,141 assistance grant from the U.S. Department of Education. U.S. Rep. Mo Price, DiBelleville, said Monday.

The federal assistance was awarded under a program with Public Law 93-574, which provides assistance for schools in federally affected areas. Price learned of the grant approval from Lawrence Davenport, assistant secretary for Elementary and Secondary Education.

"This money will help offset costs the school district incurs due to federal projects currently under way in the Madison area," Price said.

1986 V.P. FAIRGROUNDS

Suburban Newspapers Sponsor Fireworks

Caimano planning a 'sky concert'

When Gary Paul Caimano goes to work, thousands of people cheer.

That has to feel good.

Caimano, marketing vice president for Pyro-Spectaculars of Rialto, Calif., produces some of the largest fireworks displays in the world. Pyro-Spectaculars lit up the Los Angeles sky for the opening and closing ceremonies of the 1984 Summer Olympics. Caimano also helped plan fireworks at President Ronald Reagan's 1981 inauguration and at the Ross Bowl.

Caimano will bring his best of tricks to St. Louis Saturday and 200,000 spectators at the V.P. Fair. All the fireworks productions July 4, 5 and 6 are sponsored by Suburban Newspapers of Greater St. Louis. The Suburban Newspapers will sponsor the V.P. Fair spectaculors for the next five years.

Sunset Fireworks Ltd. of St. Louis will produce the July 6 performance that will close the fair. That show will feature 13 scenes and will be accompanied by traditional and contemporary music.

Pyro-Spectaculars has become one of the nation's premier fireworks production companies because Caimano has made his displays more than just a series of loud bangs.

The productions combine music and narration with fireworks to create what Caimano calls a "sky concert."

The show Pyro-Spectaculars is planning for the fair will open with "thunder" and a graphic logo of the Statue of Liberty, which will be suspended from a helicopter near the Arch.

"If we have good weather we can pull it off. It will stun the crowd," Caimano said.

"Fanfare for the Common Man" will follow, with a narration of the famous poem by Emma Lazarus.

A section devoted to St. Louis' contemporary American ballads by John Cougar Mellencamp and Bruce Springsteen and a finale to "Stars and Stripes Forever" will wrap up the 25-minute program.

The largest shell in the sky concert is 12 inches in diameter, weighs 51 pounds and will take eight seconds to climb 1,225 feet into the air. When it explodes, it will have a display with a circumference of 1,000 feet.

Caimano said about 20 percent of the shells used in Pyro-Spectaculars productions are manufactured in Australia.

Pyro-Spectaculars imports other shells from Japan, Australia, and France — each of which has a specialty, Caimano said.

Japan manufactures magnificient chrysanthemums, the special effect most people are familiar with Australia is known for brilliant colors, like maroon, purple and orange, pink. France exports superb Roman candles. And American fireworks are noted for big bangs.

Manuel de Souza started Pyro-Spectaculars around 1900 off San Miguel Island in the Azores.

Spectacular parade promised

Activity is feverish in the V.P. den - the warehouse in midtown St. Louis where floats are assembled for the annual Veedel Parade. Paul Tooley, who has been chief designer of the floats for the past 17 years, promises something spectacular for the 20 floats he is designing for the July 3 parade.

"Parades have practically become a thing of the past, with the exceptions of the V.P., here and the Mardi Gras in New Orleans," he says.

But big commercial parades, such as the Rose Bowl or Macy's, are altogether different. Those are made for TV. A float has passed by the cameras, and it's off to the studio to be edited and sent down the line. Those are the big money-makers. Our venture here is not to make money. We have a few sponsored floats, but that never pays for itself. Our floats might run as high as $10,000."

Since the first V.P. Parade, there have never been two floats exactly the same. A float is seen only once. It's designed to last long enough to be used for other sorts of displays, such as store windows," he says.

Occasionally, some part of a float can be reused, such as the time-consuming and skillfully crafted statues. These immediately go into storage in the hope that they may be used again in a slightly different setting in some future parade. Tooley said the process is carefully protected. If they are small, they are often carved from a piece of styrofoam, then covered with papier mache and painted.

If they are large, a wooden structure is constructed and this is covered with papier mache. In either case, a shower of rain would be fatal.

This year, Tooley has a new challenge. The route now passes beneath St. Louis' Center's pedestrian bridge.

"We used to build them 16 feet high," he says. "But with the new overpass at the St. Louis Centre, we had to shorten them a foot."

Planners of the first V.P. Parade in 1878 were inspired by festivities at the World's Fair in New Orleans and settings for the original floats were imported from that Louisiana city, Tooley says. The St. Louis parade was held until recent years in the fall and paid tribute to the local hardware and cigar trade.

Tooley, whose family lived 100 miles north of St. Louis near the Illinois River, first heard of the parade while visiting his mother's home town of Alton on a steamboat to see the parade.

"Back in those days, there wasn't a whole lot in the way of entertainment," he says, "so a big top circus or a parade was really something special for Tooley ever since.

The theme this year is "America the Beautiful," Tooley says, adding, "Since floats are really for children we made it whimsical and colorful."

Spectators will see an Alaskan float, featuring a dog sled, large multi-colored totem poles and a brilliant aurora borealis. The Hawaiian float is a 12-foot-tall hula girl.

There will be a float of mountain men with women on skis, a Wild West float with horses all of wood and another that displays a small but exact replica of the statue of Abraham Lincoln that is in the Washington D.C. memorial.

The Ozarks will be represented in a whimsical style - featuring a young girl and boy fishing in an autumn setting.

The parade route this year will be the same as last year. Beginning at 14th and Olive streets, floats, bands and other participants will move east to Tucker Boulevard, north to Washington Avenue, east to 4th, south to Market and then west once again to Tucker.
